Liberals Question Changes in Hebron Development Concept

The Liberals are raising questions about a change in the development concept for the Hebron Project. ExxonMobil made the announcement late last week. Liberal Leader Yvonne Jones questioned Natural Resources Minister Kathy Dunderdale in the House of Assembly on what, if any, impact the changes will have in this province, particularly in the elimination of pre-drilling work. Jones wants to know the value of the cancelled contracts. Dunderdale says while spin offs are not counted in the benefits to the province, she reiterated we will not lose out due to the change in development concept.
