Liberals: Live Up to Promise

The Liberals feel government should live up to a 2007 election promise and push the legislation forward so Sir Wilfred Grenfell College in Corner Brook will be autonomous. Education critic Marshall Dean says Wednesday's announcement concerning Grenfell College was nothing more than "political opportunism". Dean says another major concern is the name change. He says while they would like to see a reference to Memorial University, the Sir Wilfred Grenfell connection should remain. Dean says if it wasn't for Sir Wilfred Grenfell's commitment to developing educational, social and medical opportunities in our region, we certainly wouldn't be the province we are today.
