

MAY 27
2010

Opposition Looks for Offshore Observers

Liberal Leader Yvonne Jones believes such a move would help prevent a Gulf of Mexico type disaster, however Natural Resources Minister Kathy Dunderdale says they will wait to see what their own independent assessment finds. Captain Mark Turner is doing that review. Dunderdale also noted that the Canada Newfoundland Labrador Offshore Petroleum Board is holding a technical briefing on Monday to talk about oil spills. The minister says oil spill detection is best done from the air.