Government should be doing more to accommodate post-secondary students in western Labrador, according to Opposition leader Yvonne Jones.

Jones says she's heard complaints from students having a hard time finding housing in the area and who are re-considering studying in Labrador because of a lack of housing.

Jones says it's indicative of the housing shortage afflicting areas throughout the province.

"It is obvious that issues of affordable housing must be addressed in areas throughout the province, especially with the recent spike in prices from the Hebron and IOC expansion announcements," Jones says.
