Opposition Weighs In on Security Breach January 29, 2008

Opposition Justice Critic Kelvin Parsons is questioning the effectiveness of measures put in place to protect the personal information of people in this province. Parsons was responding in light of another security breach involving confidential information. It happened just days after Justice Minister Jerome Kennedy proclaimed ammendments to the privacy act. The government says the personal information was exposed via a laptop computer owned and operated by a private firm carrying out contract work for the province.
