Opposition Education Critic Not Impressed December 4, 2008

The Opposition Education Critic is calling a government private member's resolution on the autonomy of Memorial University a sham. Roland Butler says the motion is a clear indication that government believes it has done nothing wrong in its activities in the search for a new university president. Grand Bank MHA Dr. Darrin King, who brought forward the motion, says it reaffirms government's commitment to academic freedom and autonomy. King says government is committed to working collaboratively with the Board of Regents and university administration to ensure Memorial continues to be one of the best institutions in the world.
